Program Report: Health and Hygiene Awareness Program in Narasaraopeta Engineering College Conducted by Women Empowerment
Cell and Sexual Harassment Prevention Committee

Date: 17-8-23 Venue: NEC Seminar hall Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell and Sexual Harassment Prevention Committee

Duration: 2Hours

The Health and Hygiene Awareness Program conducted by Women Empowerment Cell and Sexual Harassment Prevention Committee at Narasaraopeta Engineering College aimed to educate and promote the importance of maintaining good health and hygiene practices among students and staff members. The initiative successfully enhanced participants' understanding of health-related matters and their significance, contributing to a healthier and more hygienic college environment. Dr.Gottipati Lakshmi, MS OBG.ICOG (Infertility) Kadiyala Hospital, Narasaraopet is the resource person for this program. She created awareness among the students about the significance of health and hygiene in daily life. She further said that I'd like to address an important and often overlooked aspect of women's health – gynaecological problems. Gynaecological problems encompass a range of conditions that affect a woman's reproductive system. These can include menstrual irregularities, pelvic pain, infections, fibroids, endometriosis, and more. It's vital that we break down the stigma around discussing these topics openly, as doing so can lead to early detection and proper management.

Dr.M.Sreenivasa Kumar, Principal NEC stated that by raising awareness and fostering open conversations about gynecological problems, we can promote education and empowerment. He emphasized the importance of holistic well-being in an educational setting. He wants promote a clean and healthy college environment and empower the girl students to take responsibility for their personal health and hygiene.

A quiz competition is conducted to the girl students and prizes are distributed to the winners. The programme concluded with the felicitation to the chief guest.

Report on Women Protection

On 22 July, 2023 A guest lecture is organised on Women Protection topic. lawyer G.M.Blessina, M.A.LLB, Panel Advocate Palnadu District is invited to give a Lecture on Women Protection and create legal awareness about women protection to the girl students. Women's protection rights in India have been a significant topic of concern. She said that some notable legislative measures include the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act (2005), the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition, and Redressal) Act (2013), and amendments to the Indian Penal Code to address crimes against women, such as acid attacks, rape, and sexual assault. However, despite these legal provisions, challenges persist, including the need for effective implementation, societal attitudes, and cultural norms.

On this occasion the Principal of NEC Dr.M.Sreenivasa Kumar said that Women protection is a crucial aspect of human rights, equality, and social progress. Throughout history, women have faced various forms of discrimination, violence, and exploitation solely based on their gender. Societies worldwide must take measures to ensure the safety, empowerment, and dignity of women. By fostering a culture of respect, implementing legal safeguards, promoting gender equality, and addressing the root causes of violence against women, we can create a safer and more equitable world for everyone. Women should be aware of various laws and initiatives have been implemented to safeguard women's rights and protect them from violence, discrimination, and harassment. The Indian Constitution guarantees equality and fundamental rights to all citizens, including women.

Dr.K.Ponnari Lakshmi, Coordinator of NEC Women Empowerment Cell said Despite significant progress in women's rights, women continue to experience various forms of violence and discrimination across the globe. Gender-based violence, including domestic violence, sexual assault, human trafficking, and harmful cultural practices, remains pervasive in many societies. Economic empowerment is an integral part of women's protection. Economic independence not only enhances their financial security but also helps to challenge traditional gender roles and reduce their vulnerability to exploitation and abuse. She further said that Education is a powerful tool in the fight for women's protection. It equips women with knowledge, skills, and confidence, enabling them to make informed decisions and assert their rights.

Conclusion

Women's protection is not solely a women's issue; it is a concern that affects everyone in society. By safeguarding women's rights and promoting gender equality, we create a more just, inclusive, and prosperous world for all. It is a collective responsibility to challenge stereotypes, break down barriers, and ensure that women can live without fear, violence, or discrimination. Only through genuine collaboration and commitment can we unleash the full potential of women and realize a more equitable and harmonious global community.
